You will get detailed information about the registration directly from the Goethe Institute after the end of the online registration period. If you are interested to participate in the intensive language course, you have to indicate this in the online application form.

Exam Period

There is no specific exam period at the University of Bremen. The dates and type of the exams differ from course to course. Usually, lecturers will communicate the exact type and date of exam for each course during the first week of lectures.

However, most exams will take place within 2-3 weeks after the end of the lecture period during the course free time so that most students will be able to finish their study period by end of February (winter semester) or mid-August (summer semester).
