

Want to have been with us when we find answers to the complex questions of our time?

We. Create. Space.

OHB System AG – We.Create.Space

OHB System AG is one of the leading space companies in Europe. The company is part of the listed high-tech group OHB SE, which has more than 3,000 employees working on pivotal European space programs. With two strong locations in Bremen and Oberpfaffenhofen near Munich and more than 40 years of experience, OHB System AG specialises in high-tech solutions for space. These include low-orbiting and geostationary satellites for Earth observation, navigation, telecommunications, science and space exploration as well as systems for human space flight and aerial reconnaissance. We owe our success to our employees' passion for innovation, as well as their commitment and initiative.

For permanent employment the Navigation department at OHB System AG in Bremen is looking for a

Junior Cyber Security Engineer (m/f/d)

Your Tasks

- Technical management, coordination and control over the security engineering activities
- Control, planning, specification and verification of function and performance of security-related systems
- System level test support (incl. ground segment and satellite)
- Support satellite and ground segment milestone reviews
- Technical management of the security activities
- Ensure technically correct, timely delivery and closure of the review boards action items
- Provide input for progress reports and meetings
- Launch Campaign on-site support

Your Qualifications

- Master degree in engineering, preferably major in Aerospace or Electrical Engineering / IT
- (First) work experience in satellite development and/or area of security models is appreciated
- High motivation and proactive involvement
- Good conceptual and problem solving skills
- Team-minded, well-developed communication and negotiation skills
- Accustomed to work in international composited teams
- Good written and spoken English skills
- Written and spoken German skills appreciated

OHB System AG
Human Resources
www.ohb-system.de

Werden Sie Teil unseres Teams und heben Sie Ihre berufliche und persönliche Entwicklung auf eine neue Ebene.
Bitte bewerben Sie sich ausschließlich über unser Onlinetool.

Wir freuen uns auf Sie!

